To whom it may concern,

I have had the pleasure of working with Conner Aiken, as a software developer, on two separate occasions. Mr. Aiken's attention to detail and willingness to work through complex issues was admirable to say the least. Given the opportunity, I would not hesitate to work with him again. He consistently provided quality and intuitive work. I have worked with a number of developers over the years, and have been thoroughly impressed with his desire to constantly improve himself and his projects.

Conner is flexible and enthusiastic about programming and I have no doubt he would make a great addition to your team.

Highest Regards,
